

Lady Bunya — website content

Adding a pinch of panache into your life

Hi Sharni, Glen here. The new website now has its full structure in place — all the pages are built and ready. To bring them to life I need your words and a few photos. Could you jot down whatever's relevant below? Rough notes are perfect — bullet points, a voice memo, however's easiest. Don't worry about making it polished; I'll shape it into lovely copy for the site.

No need to do it all at once. Even just the 'About you' section and one or two services gets things moving.

About you

The most important part — people book a person, not a service.

- In two or three sentences, who are you and what do you do?
- What's the thread that connects everything you offer — dance, voice, earth-connection, speaking? What ties it together for you?
- What do you want people to feel in your presence, or after a session with you?
- Any training, qualifications or lineage you'd like mentioned?

Each thing you offer

For Dancercise, Vocal Coaching, Eco-Therapy, Gardening, Public Speaking and Workshop Facilitation — a quick sketch of each (skip any you're not currently running):

- What actually happens in a session? (a few plain, honest sentences)
- Who's it for — are beginners welcome? All ages and bodies?
- Is it one-on-one, a group, or a workshop? In person, online, or both?
- Where does it run, and how long does it go for?
- What does it cost? (per session, a package, or sliding scale)

Two that need your own words

- Sanskrit Prayer Singing — how would you describe it? What does a session involve?
- Wayapa Wuurrk — I've deliberately left this one entirely for you. As an Aboriginal earth-connection practice, it should be described exactly the way you're trained and authorised to, including acknowledging where it comes from. Whatever you write, I'll use as it is.

Bookings & payments

- Which offerings would you like people to book and pay for online? And which would you rather they enquire about first?
- What's your cancellation or refund policy? (for example, 'full refund up to 48 hours before')

Photos — this is what will make it sing

The site looks a little plain right now mostly because it has no photos yet. This is where it really comes alive. (Glen's dancing photo of you from the 50th is going to be the hero image — more in that joyful spirit would be wonderful.)

- Could you gather any photos you have — of yourself, of sessions, of the space at Moora Moora? Warm and natural ones are perfect.

- A good portrait of you, especially, for the About page.
- Glen can also take new photos if that's easier — worth a chat.
- Are there any photos you do not want used?

A couple of quick decisions

- The address: your sessions are at the Moora Moora Co-operative, a residential community. Are you happy for the full street address to be public on the site, or would you prefer 'enquire for location'?
- Your real Facebook and Instagram links (the old site only had placeholders).

Thank you! Send through whatever you can, in whatever form suits you, and I'll take it from there. — Glen
